Artful Struggles commemorates the second anniversary of the Aragalaya/Polattam ("Struggle" in Sinhala and Tamil respectively) – Sri Lanka's 2022 Occupy movement against corruption, immiseration, and impunity, which toppled a president and a prime minister. The exhibition raises greater awareness about Sri Lanka's crisis and struggles through the work of contemporary artists. It explores how art helped promote a more hopeful, pluralistic, accountable, and democratic politics for Sri Lanka before succumbing to increased repression.

The exhibition is curated by Professor Lars Waldorf (Northumbria Law School) and Dr Nilanjana Premaratna (Newcastle University) and supported by community partners Agora and Vimbam.

In a special performance commissioned for Masala Festival, bassist John Pope and violinist John Garner will play alongside poet Nisha Ramayya in an experimental homage to their shared influences. Drawing upon Pope and Garner's 2022 album Water Music and Ramayya's forthcoming collection Fantasia, the trio will celebrate luminaries of jazz and poetry including Alice Coltrane, Moten/López/Cleaver, and Nathaniel Mackey and The Creaking Breeze Ensemble.

The work of these great artists extends art into the realms of spiritual community, collective study, and political action, and Pope, Garner, and Ramayya perform with an attunement to the changes that become possible when we come together to play. The event will include a discussion chaired by Preti Taneja (Director of NCLA) before the music/poetry performance.

Meanwhile law enforcement, his father and his brother monk advocate to save the leopard at all costs.

Tseden tragically passed away as the film neared completion last year and is missed by cinephiles, filmmakers and the film world who continue to feel the loss of this outstanding auteur, but whose memory lives on through his outstanding body of work.
